INTERESTING SKETCHES BY A CLEVER AMERICAN OBSERVER.

De Blowitz, Correspondent of the London Times, and Blanche Boosevelt, a New York Girl, and Their Relations with Sardou-Street Scene in Which They and the Servian Minister Participate -The Marquis of Hartington, His Quiet Ways and the Company He Keeps in the Gay Capital - How a King on Exhibition Appeared in the Eyes of a Citizen of the Western Republic.

- (Copyright 1888-)

Two of the most eager, rushing, tumbling, incoherent and agitated talkers I ever heard were Blanche Roosevelt and De Blowitz, the Paris correspondent of the London Times. Miss Roosevelt is other-wise known as Blanche Tucker, and is also the Countess Manchetta. She is a New-York girl, and she has improved immensely in appearance since she left the city six years ago. I was surprised and de-lighted when I saw her in Paris, for she had become a magnificent looking woman with a fresh color and perfectly developed figure, and with the same old-time blue

De Blowitz is small, fat, runs largely to whiskers, is not ashamed of the fact that the London Times pays him twenty-five usand dollars a year, and is of an exceedingly excitable temperament.

One day in Paris Miss Roosevelt had just received a long and exceedingly com-plimentary letter from Sardou concernpilmentary letter from Sardou concerning her collaboration with him on her new play, and she had come around to the hotel to tell about it. De Blowitz, who was godfather to the collaboration scheme—or, at least, who thought he was —was dancing attendance upon Miss Roosevelt, and dancing around her in the literal sense of the term. literal sense of the term. In the corridor of the Grand Hotel they met an Excellenza who had left Servia for sufficient reasons, and who was thrown into such a transport of agitation at the report that De Blowitz and Miss Roosevelt turned upon him, that all three of them stood on their toes and talked at such a gasping, stuttering and tumbling rate that the people stood still and looked at them, even in France. By the time I reached them they were speaking four or five languages apiece and His Excellenza, the Servian Minister, was violently kiss-ing Miss Roosevelt's hands by way of expressing his congratulations, since the rapid talking had made him marticulate, while the Countess kept up a running fire with De Blowitz, who was dancing around frantically behind her, trying in vain to catca her ear.

After they had left, I wondered how many thousand years it would be in America before a literary man like Sardou could become such a prominent local figure as to throw people into transports of excitement simply by reason of a new scheme of collaboration.

The Marquis of Hartington, who was a great deal in Paris in company with a duchess, whose name is more or less fa-miliar to English scandal-mongers, is about as far removed from a masher in appearance as anyone I ever saw. His fad this year is trousers of tremendous width. They flop around his legs like skirts on a Vermont scarecrow in a gale of wind. He and the duchess stopped in the same hotel with me once—a small family hotel in the Rue Gramont-and, during the four or five days that they were there, the noble marquis did not distinguish himself by uttering a single word beyond his wanted more soup, fish, coffee or wine. During all the rest of the time he sat very far down in his chair with his whiskers touzled about his wrinkled face, and gazed foggily and sleepfly at the duchess. She talked with the waiter most of the time in the very worst French I ever heard, occasionally regaling the marquis with references to the mugginess of the weather and the tepidity of the wine.

It was not the Duchess of Montrose, by the way. I saw that aged and overdressed personage at the opera and at various race tracks, and she was more, much more, than my fancy had painted her. She was almost universally referred to in London, even among nice people, as the Duchess of Pimlico-about as insulting an appellation as one can readily fancy when the character of Pimlico is considered. I crossed on the steamer with two very rich and modest young Englishmen who were coming to the States. They went to Niagara first, and, when they returned to New York I found them sitting in blank and speechless consternation in Delmon-ico's. They unfolded their tale of woe to me. Their schoolmate and cousin had married the Duchess of Montrose that morning, and the news had just been telegraphed to them. It is no wonder they were shocked, for, of all the ghastly looking monstrosities, the Duchess of Montrose is easily at the head. The Baroness Burdette-Coutts is sufficiently funny to look at, but no one ever thinks of guying her in London despite her youthful make-up, for her fame for benevolence is as solid as the financial standing of her bank. One often sees an exhibition of paternal feeling on the part of a king in Europe. I was in Dresden once when the King of Saxony returned to his palace after an extended trip to the North. His heavy, beefy and loyal subjects gathered under his window to the extent of about sixtyhis window to the extent of about sixty-five or seventy, and, by the aid of a gov-ernment band of about two hundred superb musicians, gave His Majesty a reception—a welcome home. For a long while the small populace and the large band rent space by the vigorous use of their lungs to no effect. ### Von Moltke and Von Blumenthal stand back in the ranks of the German generals now as Waldersee looms up. But the world will not forget the two wonderful old marshals who have given way to their more youthful rival. It was Von Moltke who picked Waldersee out more than twenty-five years ago to succeed him. There was never any secret about this in Berlin, and it is nonsense to assert that the Emperor Intended to slight Von Moltke by putting a younger man ahead of him. The old commander of the German army will be ninety very soon now, and he has certainly earned his retirement. "Young" Waldersee would be called old in America, though it is considered that he is just about entering his early manhood in the army of the Kaiser's empire. Fifty years is a mere bagatelle over there.

THE STAFF OF LIFE.

are more than a half million souls in New York city and its environs who to-day are consigning "Old Hutch" and his crew to a very warm and sulphurous hereafter. They are the working people whose weekly incomes run under ten dollars a week. A majority of them are foreigners, Italians, Hungarians, Bohemians, Russians, Polaks, Slavaks and Roumanians. The minority is made up of unfortunate Americans. In the awful tenement districts of the East Side, life is a matter not of dollars but of cents. Quantity and not quality is the object of every one of the thousands of women who daily sally forth from their unprepossessing tenements to buy the food for themselves, their husbands and their little ones. Bread is their staple. They can not afford to make it; they can not even afford to buy it fresh. This costs five cents a small loaf and ten a large one, or rather it used to cost these figures. For since the Great Chicago corner in wheat the small loaf and the large have gone up in price and gone down in size one fifth. They buy stale bread, the subject of one of the great industries of Gotham. If they purchased it from the bakeries, wholesale or retail, they formerly paid two and a half or three cents a small loaf; if from the peddlers who buy their stocks from hotels and restaurants two or two and a half cents; if from the itinerant Italians and Russians who buy it heavens knows where, one and a half to two and a halftents apiece. This lowest grade would be a curio, were it not so pitiable and monstrous. It is not only stale, but it is also semi-decomposed and often mildewed and mouldy. In some instances the dealer scrubs it clean with a scrubbing brush and then re-heats it in an oven. This operation increases its cost a half cent per loaf.

An average family of the type described uses from three to twelve loaves per diem according to its numbers. It is the chief food for breakfast; it is the lunch of the husband in whatever trade he may be and with tea of the family, and is the piece de resistance of the dinner in the evening. At two cents and a half or three per loaf the family is able to invest the remainder in tea, coffee, sugar, milk, a little meat or fish and a few cheap vegetables. The increase in the price of flour has upset all these conditions. At first fresh bread increased in price and diminished in size. Then stale bread followed the exam-ple and advanced from half a cent to one cent and a half per loaf. The result was to increase the food expense of a family from two to twenty cents a day.

Already the change is beginning to express itself in popular indignation and outcry. In the Italian quarter where nine-tenths of all the bread used is stale, the name of the great Chicago operator under the romanesque pronunciation of "Olda Hucha" is heard everywhere coupled with maledictions. In the neighorhood of Avenues A, B and C and 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th streets, the very hotbed of New York socialism and anarchism, it would be very unsafe for that distinguished bull to be seen. In the Jewish quarter the philosophic resignation which has so long characterized that race has again come to the front and apparently stifled stronger feelings.

One consequence of the corner is pe-culiar. The demand for stale bread has increased at least a third while the peddlers who formerly did a thriving business are making little or no money, or else are being driven into other vocations. Up to recently there were at least 600 stale bread pedlers in the tenement districts, while to-day there are not more than 400, women and men. The bakers and hotels can no longer sell stale bread so as to allow a margin of profit to the peddler. In Mulberry and Bayard streets the bakers are now exposing stale bread both in their windows and on the sidewalks in front of their stores. On the East Side nearly every baker now sells stale bread directly from his counter, some going so far as to put a small sign in the window announcing the fact.

Harrison's Election Considered

ALBANY, Nov. 7 .- The Evening Journal estimates a plurality of generations from the degraded life 12,000 for Harrison and 7,000 for of the working classes of Europe Hill in New York State. The Republicans gain nine assemblymen; IF the Republican party should the Congressional delegation is un-IF the Republican party should decide to admit several new States changed. The New York Telegram says: So far the election of Harrison stands recorded as next to the congressional delegation is unclearly and the indications are that this may be slightly increased. If wisdom sits at its councils and patriotism dictates question. Corrected returns reits actions, no party can win the State so far, increase Harrison's votes necessary to drive it from partlets to 10,000. Vague dispatches have been received from patches have been received from Indiana, and so far as they indicate THE vote for President in Ohio anything, they point to Republican will be about what Foraker's was gains. Whatever doubt was raised by the reports that Illinois had gone Democratic were disputed by the latest dispatches from Chicago, THE latest returns from Ohio show fifteen Republican and five not less than 20,000. In Connecti-Democratic Congressmen elected cut the vote is so close that an official count may be necessary to decide the contest, as has been the case in that State several times before. The unofficial returns re-ceived from all but four towns give Cleveland a plurality of 450. It is probable that he has carried THE Congressional delegation of the State by less than 500 votes.

The "World" Gives It Up. NEW YORK, Nov. 7 .- An extra of the World (Dem.) says: At seven o'clock the probabilities are tricts. Four hundred precincts in that General Benjamin Harrison of Indiana show a Republican gain of Indiana has been chosen President of the nation, and Levi P. Morton ing Post says: Returns received of the nation, and Levi P. Morton writing is one of uncertainty. The returns, as far as received, indicate doubt of the election of the Repub- that the tariff reform issue has terial advantage to the National Democratic ticket. On the other form, but because the majority of hand, the tariff issue has not proven strong in doubtful States, particu-larly New York. The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee have been re-elected. They represent solidly Democratic publican gains in the South and East will exceed all expectations. A careful compilation of the Congressional returns received at this hour would indicate that the Republicans will control the next House by from eight to ten major-

> NEW YORK, Nov 7.-Latest returns show that Cleveland has absolutely carried New York State by from ten to fifteen thousand. Eight hundred and twenty election districts of 856 in New York City, give Cleveland 154,099; Harrison, 99,949. Albany City, N. Y., gives Cleveland 2,800 majority, a Democratic gain of 1,402. A Report from New-morning giving an interview with Returns from the interior of the rison a plurality of only four votes, a Democratic gain of 221 over 1884; 380 election districts of the city give Cleveland 24,000 plur, lity, which indicates a plurality in the whole city of about 55,000, with some very strong Democratic districts to be heard from.

The World's bulletin says the returns indicate that Cleveland's plur rality in the State of New York will be 1,700. Dunkirk, N. Y.—Cleveland's plurality 235, a gain of 94 over 1884.

The counties of Richmond, Queens and Suffolk, closely estimated, give over 4,500 plurality for Cleveland. The City of New York has been carried by Cleveland by at least 2,000 against 1,384 in 1884. Boston Democratic by 10,000; Blaine's vote largely cut down in the State. The Republican Com-mittee concedes the State of Indiana to the Democrats. The Sun's bulletin: New Jersey for Cleveland by 6,000 to 8,000. The Republican candidate for Governor of Indiana concedes the State to Cleve-

Four Election Districts of the Fifteenth Assembly and four Elec-tion Districts of the Sixteenth Assembly show a Democratic gain of 219 over the vote of 1884, or a Democratic gain of 27 in each District. This ratio, if held through the city, would make a plurality of 66,-000 for Cleveland and Thurman.

Widely Apart

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 .- The Tribune says: The House of Representatives in the 51st Congress will be Republican by from 20 to 16 Democrats. In Connecticut the Republicans gain two Congress-men; in New Jersey they lose one. Some notable gains are recorded in the South—in Louisians and Arkausas, and in the West in Missouri. The Times says the Democrats will have a majority in the 51st Congress somewhat larger than in the 55th.

The opinion formed last night, which gave the State of New York to Harrison for President and to Hill for Governor is confirmed by later scattering returns. The districts yet to be heard from cast in 1884 a total of 364,520 votes. The reports by counties indicate a fur-ther gain of 5,200 for Harrison. If the scattering precincts not heard from keep up the drift shows in the adjoining precincts heard from, Harrison's plurality will be from 5,000 to 10,000; Hill's, about 10,000. Sun Set Cox is re-elected.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7 .- Returns from 67 out of 90 precincts in this portion of the county, show a plurality of from 500 to 800 for the Democratic ticket. Large gains have been made in the rural dis-

A. M.—The feeling at this in. Democratic gains are shown in the returns from Marion county, but some of the strongest Republican wards and precincts are yet to hear from. Six hundred and forty-five precincts in Indiana give Harrison 99,250, and Cleveland 90,868. The same precincts in 1884, gave Blaine 91,054, and Cleveland 86,615.

Minnesota and Michigan ST. PAUL, Nov. 7 .- The Globe says that Wilson, Democrat, is elected Governor, and that Harrison and Morton will carry the State by 12,000. The Pioneer Press gives Merriam, Republican, for Governor, a plurality.

Detroit, Michigan, has gone Republican by a plurality of from 18,000 to 18,000 on the electorial ticket. Luce, Republican, for Governor runs behind the rest of the ticket. ticket 5,000, owing to the opposition of the liquor men. The Re-publicans gain two congressmen, perhaps three, and the Legislature is safely Republican on joint ballot, and insuring the election of a Re-publican Senator to succeed Palmer.

New Jersey Democratic.
TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 7.—Democratic plurality in New Jersey is now estimated at 5,000. The Legislature will be Democratic by a close vote. The Senate stands Democratic 11, Republicans 10. This is the first time in ten years that the Democrats have had the Senate. The Lower House is claimed by the Republicans to be theirs, but the Democrats say they INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7 .- General Harrison did not rise very early this morning. He got a good night's rest and is looking and feeling in excellent health and spirits, At 9 o'clock bulletins resumed and seemed to set at rest all doubts about New York. Coincident with these there began to arrive a flood of congratulations and tele-grams from all sections of the country. General Harrison is very conservative about congratulations. He wants to feel sure he is out of the woods before he permits himself to participate in such proceedings. There are a great many callers at the house to-day, in fact the neighbors come in and took apparent possession. On the outside there is quite a crowd standing gazing at the house looking to catch a glimpse of the Gen-eral. San Francisco, Nov. 7.—12:30 p. m. Four hundred at forty-five precincts in California out of 1,560 ontside of San Francisco county give Harrison 27,499, Cleveland 25,544. No comparison is possible with the vote of 1884, owing to the large number of new precincts.

Three Congressmen Gained. DETROIT, Nov. 7.—The election of Wheeler (Rep.), in the Tenth District, over Fisher, the present incumbent, is conceded. This leaves but one district, the seventh, in doubt, and is a Republican gain of three. Should Whiting (Dem.) be elected in the seventh, which now seems probable, the delega-tion will stand nine Republicans and two Democrats. Additional returns received up to noon do not

The German Election BERLIN, Nov. 7 .- In the Prussian election, the final ballots make the standing of the parties as follows: One hundred and thirty-five Conservatives, 64 Free Conservatives, 96 Centrists, 87 National Liberals, 20 members Freisennige party, 13 Poles, 2 Danes, 2 Guelphs, Independent. Stoecker, Richter, Ricker, Freidberg, Lossgneists and Virchow are elected.

The Majority Reduce d. BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 7-The Result of the election in Kings County was a surprise to the Democratic leaders, who expected 28,-000 plurality for Cleveland. The shrinkage is accounted for by the return of the Muguumps and Pro-hibitionists of four years ago to the Republicans. The majority will not exceed 13,000 in Kings county.

News from New Jersey. JERSEY CITY, Nov. 7.- The Dem ocratic State Committee claim the State by 8,000; the Senate by 11 to 10 Republicans and the Assembly by 3I to 29 Republicans. There are several districts in doubt, how ever, and the opinions are based on very meager returns from Democratic source, Great Excitement. excitement prevails here to-day, in striking contrast with the quiet situation of yesterday. Cleveland has carried the State by a reduced majority. The Democrats elect six Congressmen, the Republicans one, and three doubtful.

A Congressional Gaia. DES MOINES, IOWA, Nov. 7.-Harrison's plurality in Iowa will probably exceed 30,000. Weaver, in the Sixth District, and Anderson, in the Eighth District, are both beaten, giving the Republicans every Congressman in the State, but one.

Still In Doubt. New York, Nov. 7. — Extra World says at 2:30 P. M: The National Democratic Committee anounced that New York was so doubtful that an official count would be necessary to decide the election. This will take three days.

Republican Gains. INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7 .- Seven hundred precincts out of 1806 give Harrison 110,693, Cleveland 101,460 The same precincts in 1884, gave Blaine 101,031, Cleveland 96,851, a net Republican gain of 5,053.

The Democrats Claim Virgins. ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 7 .- W. W. Scott, Secretary of the Democratic State Committee, claims the State for Cleveland by a reduced majority, probably between 4,000 and 5,000.

Wont Acknowledge It. NEW YORK, Nov. 7 .- The World Connectiont Gives Cleveland 384.

HARTFORD, Nov. 7.—The Post has not yet conceded New York State.

> Harrison's Plurality. NEW YORK, Nov. 7.-The last edition of the Sun makes Harrisons plurality in the State 10,001.

A Republican Gain. INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7 .- Three hundred and fifty precincts in Indiana show a net Republican gain of 1,838.

black or rusty-coated fruit. Pick out the dingiest oranges in the box and you will get the best. Another way to choose oranges is by weight. The heaviest are the best because they have the thinnest skin and more weight of juice. Thick-skin oranges are apt to be dry; they either weigh less because of having so much skin, or because of the poverty of the juice in these particular specimens. A slight freezing on the tree causes this condition in otherwise fine fruit The "kid glove" oranges are the two varieties of small fruit grown in Florida from stocks respectively brought from China and from Tangiers. They are called "Mandarin" and "Tangarine." They may be eaten without soiling a kid glove, because the skin is loose, They may be eaten without soining a kid glove, because the skin is loose, and the little "gores" or pockets of juice come apart very cleanly and without breaking. All the above applies to Florida oranges. The Jamaica and Havana oranges are much paler yellow, and their juice is usually of more acid quality.

The oldest enterprise mentioned in history or known to tradition is only just approaching completion. That is the canal through the Isthmus of Corinth, in Greece. A RICE EXPERIMENT.

tivated in California. The Coulsa Sun says: Last spring L. F. Moulton planted some Carolina rice on his low land on Butte creek. He regards the experiment as a success. Mr. Moulton has some 6,000 acres of land suitable for rice. The Crocker estate has 1,000 or more acres adapted constructed by a Naples company, are to develop nearly twenty-three thou-sand indicated horse-power. Among the various features of note in this Pacific, will visit the Davis Slough remarkable vessel, as described, are four sets of triple-compound engines, two sets of engines on each shaft, the vessel, of course, being twin-screw. The working machinery also comprises eighteen return-tube boilers, having mach four furnessers and the water now standing in named. The water now standing in the lake into which Butte creek flows is ten feet above the water now in the river, and a short canal will take it out near Butte Slough. So here is a com-plete system for rice-growing. In a few years we hope to see land now An exchange says: The very sweetest orange and richest is the profitable industries in which any portion of the world is engaged.

McKissick's Opera House.

Seldom have actors held such entire possession of the hearts of an audience says the New York News, as did Mr. Louis James and Miss Marie Wainwright at the Grand Opera House last evening. The play was "Virginius." In the title role Mr. James was noble in presence, graceful in action and by the charm of his expressive face and musical voice he depicted every feeling and emotion of the part with artistic beauty and a power which roused his auditors to intense excitement. It was a magnificent piece of dramatic work. Miss Marie Wainwright was a delight to look upon as "Virginia," the Roman maiden, and and by the spell of her beauty and sweet presence and skill of her art she won all hearts. The often-repeated applause showered upon her and Mr. James attested the extent of their power to stir the heart- The cast was uniformly good and the performance smoothe and effective. To appear at McKissick's Opera House Tuesday night Nov. 13th. Tickets and reserved seats at Nasby's.

of Locomotives in Germany Herr Leonhardt, a German engineer who has been investigating the subject, says that the number of locomotives in use on German railroads at the end of the railroad year 1885-6 was 12,450. The average age of the locomotive in use during the year of service 1884-5, was 12.60 years; and in 1885-6, 12.49 years. This is deduced from a table of the number of engines added and in active use for each year, from 1845 to 1885. From this table it appears that 59 engines built prior to the year 1850 were running during the year 1585-6, and that the distinction of being the oldest running engine in Germany falls to one on the Holsteinische Marschbahn, which dates back to 1845.

Delicate Mechanism Disordere

and Righted.

The most delicate and intricate piece of mechanism in the human structure is the nerves. As the telegraphic wires transmit the electric forces, so do these sensation, the focal point being the brain, where sensation centers. Mental anxiety weakens this mechanism, sudden shocks paralyze it, but dyspepsia is its most obdurate foe. This foe is utterly defeated by the irresistible tonic, Hostetter's Stomach flitters, and the cessation of the disorder in the stomach is reflected in the brain and nerves by restored tranquility, and tranquility of the nerves implies, in this instance, renewed vigor. A distinguished medical authority says: "The victim of nervous disquietude, who finds chloral at night and bromide by day necessities, should know that disquietude, who finds chloral at night and bromide by day necessities, should know that a cure must be sought among agencies which strengthen the nerves," and assuredly Hostetter's stomach Bitters has proved to be the best of these. Malarial complaints, constipation, billousness, inactivity of the kidneys and rheumatism often involve nervous troubles by sympathy, and all are eradicated by the Bitters.

A noted English breeder in enumer ating what he considered the good points of Shorthorn cattle stated, that nong other things the eye of the among other things the eye of the animal always influenced his choice to a great extent. A quiet, good natured eye was that of the animal likely to suit his purpose, but the keen eye, in constant motion, he avoided, because it indicated an irritable and uneasy temperament, and an animal of such a temperament would not be easily fatten.

He might have endured them for life, had he not heard that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would make him a well man. He gave it a trial, and was cured. They Discuss the Issues of the Campaign Their Favorite Capdidates The Tem-

Their Favorite Candidates—The remperance Sentiment Notably Strong.

It is unquestionably a fact that if the voting privilege should be given to women to-day, the entire Women's Temperance Christian Union, with very few exceptions, would vote for General Clinton B. Fisk for President. There are unwards of two hundred and fifty thousand members in the organization, and they wards of two hundred and fifty thousand members in the organization, and they would likely influence many more voters among their own sex. The rank and file of women are not actively interested in the campaign because it does not vitally concern them, but when once they are called upon to take sides as the women of called upon to take sides as the women of Boston have had to do, they will quickly enter politics, and vote as judgment or prejudice dictates. Ten years hence it is predicted, they will be voting in the majority of the States, as they are now doing in Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska and other States. The school question concerns them in Boston, and the fight has been made a religious one. Hence it is a success. The Protestant and Catholic women are divided on questions concerns with the government and manager. women are divided on questions con-nected with the government and manage-ment of the public schools, and at least thirty thousand women will vote this year against a few hundred last year and the year previous. The leaders of the suf-frage societies in the different States, recognizing what a potent factor religion is in the lives of women, are quite willing to raise the same issue in other cities and towns, as now agitates Boston women, and when once the two great religious sects in this country are arrayed against each other at the polls, even on one point only, women will have an absorbing intere in politics. The intelligent women of the United States are watching this factional fight at the Hub, and the tactics pursued there will be adopted elsewhere where the right to vote on this school question has been granted to women.

A canvass among many well-known women of the professional class has been made, and with the result depicted below. To the questions would they vote if they could and for whom, the ladies made answers as follows: "Jennie June" writes: "If I had a preference for any political candidate, it would favor the present occupant of the White House, President Cleveland. The reasons are: First, That he has shown himself conscientious and courageous in his office, wise and temperate in his judg-ment, and steadfast in his adhesion to principle: secondly, because his princi-ples favor the economical and really pro-gressive administration of national re-

Lilian Whiting says in reply to our

"You kindly ask me to name my choice of Presidential candidates and detail the reasons for the faith that is in me. Alas! I am not an 'advanced' woman. Al-though, as I have lived in Boston seven years, a period in which one is traditionally supposed to be made anew, and therefore I claim the privilege of calling myself a Bostonian, I do not live up to my environment. I have never voted, even on school suffrage. I fail to remem-ber the distinctions of the tariff. I vaguely grasp that President Cleveland is on one side and General Harrison on the other, and that General Fisk represents Prohibition, and I know not what else, and they all seem to me men so able and good that I fail to perceive any reason why the country should not prosper gloriously under either. In fact, I am in the condition of the lover who sings: 'How happy could I be with either, were t'other dear charmer away.' I frankly admit that I have no political convictions, and far more rights than I can wisely

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster is an out-and-out Republican, and has issued with others the address of the "Woman's Republican National Committee," asking the women

In 1872 Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton and others issued a similar address urging women to work for the re-election General Grant. Mrs. Foster is a leader in Women's Temperance Christian Union, but she is not in favor of the Pro-hibition party.

Mrs. Stanton favors both the Labor and Prohibition parties, and thinks that true woman suffragists can do nothing else and be consistent. "It is needless," she says, "pretending to belong to any of the political parties; we have no votes to help make or break parties, and we should let them live or die as the case may be, until such time as some one of them sees fit to give us the only legitimate power by which we can help them—the free use of the

Mrs. Abram S. Hewitt is a Democrat and ought to have the power to vote for her husband. She would make good use of the privilege and go the whole Democratic State and National ticket.

Miss Mary F. Eastman, the well-known suffrage leader, says she would like to vote very much, but she will not say which of the candidate she would honor with her bailot. Her friends think it would be General Fisk.

Frances E. Willard is stumping the country for Fisk, and she says two hundred thousand temperance women would vote for him if they could. She further says that the temperance women will put in some hard work in the next four years for the right of suffrage, and whenever this justice is awarded them they will put a Prohibitionist in the White House. Rev. Phobe Hanaford of New Haven, Conn., is an advocate of the Prohibition party, while the Rev. Olympia Brown, of Wisconsin, would like to vote for Harrison.

Marietta Holley (" Josiah Allen's Wife"), is a temperance woman and favors the election of the Prohibition can-

Mary A. Livermore is speaking in various parts of the country in behalf of General Fisk. She left the Republican party this year and denounced it for its alleged broken pledges to the Women's Suffrage party. The Republican General Committes, to offset her loss, hired Miss Anna Dickinson, at a high figure, to go to Indiana and Illinois and work for Harrison. Anna hasn't paid much, if any attention, to politics for a long time, having been a great invalid for two or more years, and she is talking over the old isyears, and she is talking over the old is-sues that should have been buried twenty years ago. She does not care who wins the fight nor what the party majority may be; she has no heart in the work, and is doing her political work for her wages.

Belva Lockwood would like to vote for herself, but is debarred from so doing. Susan Anthony would vote for any party, she says, that would give women the right to vote; after that she would vote or women candidates every time.

When Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe heard of the nomination of Harrison, she manifested much interest in the news and said she hoped he would get the office.

Mrs. John A. Logan is a Republican, and while Harrison is not her choice, she is using her influence to get him elected. She is a good politician, and is more fa miliar with public men and measures than are the majority of women whose husbands are or have been office holders. Eleanor Kirk says: "To have a 'cholce of presidential candidates' without the of presidential candidates' without the legal right to make such choice practical, is an intensely humiliating position, and a woman may well stop and think whether a public expression of a preference utterly null and void, is not an added shame. To be compelled to say, 'If I were a citizen of these United States,' or, 'If I did not have to be classed with "idiots and lunatics"; "And ware dispersupphised by crime I tics" and were disenfranchised by crime, I would support such a candidates,' is enough to effectually seal the lips of a woman who has sense enough to know when she is insulted. Suffice it to say, then, that I have a choice of Presidential candidates, and a reason for my choice. I would also have the full courage of my convictions if I were so fortunate as to be named with the pauper laborers from other countries, and the men of our own country who can neither 'read, write nor cipher,' who lie, and steal, and get drunk, and who are only above the beasts of the field by reason of walking on two legs in-

Mrs. Schuyler Colfax of Indiana, is a member of the Women's Republican National Committee, and is working for the election of Harrison and Morton.

Elizabeth Lyle Saxon, the President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Tennessee, and a Woman Suf-fragist, would like to vote for Clinton B.

Fisk for President.

Laura C. Holloway answers: "Had I the ballot privilege, I would cast my vote for President Cleveland. He has given the country a good administration and de serves re-election. As I cannot vote, I see no reason for discussing politics."

Rose Terry Cooke has a husband and would like to vote the Republican ticket

Mrs. Fred. Grant is a Republican and would vote the straight ticket. She was immensely pleased with her short experince in the electioneering business for her husband when he ran for the office of Secretary of State, and would be glad to be in the field again should he be nominated for office.

Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Harrison main. tain an awed neutrality and preserve utter silence. Nothing could induce them to say who would be their choice for the Harriet Prescott Spofford, the author, is a woman's suffragist, and would like to vote for General Fisk, the Prohibition candidate. Her interest is not centered in candidate. Her interest is not centered in Gail Hamilton would have been glad to Blaine, but would not decline to vote for Harrison.

The stake and fagots would not force from Mrs. Agnew and Miss Dodge, the New York School Board members, any po-litical opinion or expression for or against either candidate. They are in business and not in politics.

Miss Mary Booth, the editor of Harper's Bazar, is for Cleveland, and would vote for him if she had the privilege.

Mrs. Jesse Benton Fremont is for Harrison. So is Miss Kate Field.

Lucy Larcom and Nora Perry are both Republicans, but are wholly indifferent

Mary D. Bryan, the novelist, is a Democrat of the uncompromising class. She wants everybody elected who is running on that ticket.

Miss Emma C. Thursby says she hasn't any politics.

Anna Randall Deihl is a Prohibitionist, so likewise is Mrs. Thomas, President of Sorosis.

Mrs. Lew Wallace is for Harrison.

Mrs. Sarah K. Bolton is likewise, and so also is Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis.

The readiness with which comen addressed on the subject of their vote, responded, indicates, in most instances, their interest in the struggle now in progress. As they represent the educated class, their interest in politics may not be significant of a general regard for the subject on the part of their sex.

THE CENTURY

MAGAZINE IN 1889. WHY Has it such an enormous circula-tion? Experts estimate that between two and three millions of people read each

BECAUSE THE CENTURY is above every thing a leader. It led the development of wood-engraving in America, and it has fostered American authors. It is alive to the issues of to-day. What it prints sets people to thinking and talking. BECAUSE Whatever other periodicals the great reading world has found out that "no household can keep abreast of the times without THE CENTURY." "Its success is explained by its contents."

BECAUSE The greatest writers of the read by the greatest number, and therefore to such a magazine as THE CENTURY the best naturally comes. It was for THE CENTURY that General Grant first wrote his reminiscenses of important battles. BECAUSE It is publishing the life of private secretaries. Of this it has been said, "The young man who is not reading it robs himself of that which he will hunger for." The coming year presents the most important

The coming year presents the most important part of this great history, which may begin at inv time BECAUSE It is printing those remarkathe Exile System." by George Kenman, which are attracting universal attention and are being reprinted in hundreds of foreign newspapers, but are not allowed to enter Russia.
The "Chicago Tribune" says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitally interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia." They are
"as judicial as the opinion of a Supreme Court tribunal—as thrilling as the most sensational drama."

BECAUSE During 1889 THE CENTURY is to have a series of engravings of the greatest pictures of the old Italian masters, made by Timothy Cole, the leading wood-engraver in the world, who has spent four years in Italy on this work; a series of "Strange True Stories of Lonisiana," by Geo. W. Cable; accasional richly illustrated papers describing the scenes of the carrent International Sunday-school lessons; interesting illustrated pages
